DETAILED ACTION

1. The Examiner has carefully considered Applicant's amendments and accompanying remarks filed October 3, 2005.
2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Lorenzi et al. (US 6,322,801). Lorenzi et al. disclose personal care articles for useful on the skin (abstract). The article comprises a polymeric net arranged with a nonwoven ply. The nonwoven ply may also be a polymeric mesh sponge (col 7, ln 39-41). Colorants (i.e. pigments) may be added to the component (Example 7). Cross-linking agents can include acrylic acid ester of polyethylene glycol monoallyl ether (col 33, ln 12-13).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed October 3, 2005, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive for the reasons set forth. Applicant argues that Lorenzi's cleansing component in the sponge is not a part of the present invention. This argument is not persuasive because the claims, as presently written, are written in open language, i.e. comprising. Therefore, the claims do not preclude the use of Lorenzi's cleansing component. Applicant further argues that there are sponge fibers formed in the mesh structure of the present invention. This argument is also not persuasive because Lorenzi's nonwoven ply may comprises a polymeric mesh sponge which can comprise netting mesh prepared from nylon or a strong flexible polymer (col 7, ln 39-46). It is not seen how Lorenzi's polymeric mesh sponge differs from Applicant's sponge fibrous mesh. Applicant further argues that Lorenzi fails to disclose a resin layer that completely covers the mesh layer. This argument is not persuasive because Lorenzi discloses a second layer which can comprise a formed film (col 8, ln 46-50), which the Examiner is equating to the resin of the present invention. Therefore, all rejections have been maintained.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
